

A masterful vision of witchcraft and wonder--from the award-winning writer who's been hailed as an American original. (Locus) Winner of the Bram Stoker Award and finalist for both the Nebula and World Fantasy Awards, Nina Kiriki Hoffman presents a novel of two people who live outside ordinary reality--and who are about to discover life's extraordinary possibilities...Matt (Matilda) Black possesses the unique ability to speak with inanimate objects and to witness the inner dreams of other people. She spends her days traveling from place to place alone, yet never lonely--for she can communicate with all that surrounds her. She finds a kindred spirit in Edmund Reynolds--a wandering witch on a spiritual quest to help those in need. Together, these two special people will embark on an odyssey of the imagination. They will encounter things both wonderful and terrifying. And after so many years of solitude, they will learn to depend on one another--as they look into the darkest depths of the past. Most writers show and tell. Nina Hoffman sings.--Algis Budrys A Nina Hoffman story is, by definition, a thing of high quality and mesmeric appeal.--Roger Zelazny Nina Kiriki Hoffman is a magician. Her words create worlds no one has seen before. Her characters are charming, her prose lyrical. She is one of the fantasy field's greatest talents.--Kristine Kathryn Rusch Nina Kiriki Hoffman is one of those special prizes in the field...One of a kind. An American original.--Locus Is Nina Hoffman a genius? Oh, yes. Yes, indeed.--The Magazine of Fantasy & Science Fiction
